CROCKER STUDY CIRCLE MEET

The Study and Sewing Circle met at the home of Mrs. J. Jordan, of Bellevue avenue, last Monday afternoon. At the close of the afternoon's work delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. Those who enjoyed this most pleasant afternoon were: Mrs. I. N. Yates, Mrs. Arthur O'Neill, Mrs. L. Tompsett, Mrs. Adeline Jordan, Mrs. Maynard Chesney, Mrs. Orvilla Pauw, Mrs. Ethel Bolger and Mrs. J. Jordan.

PRE-SCHOOL CLINIC

There were sixteen children of preschool age examined in the Clinic held June 19. The ladies in charge were Mrs. Eva Page, Mrs. Frank Watson, Mrs. Lewis, Mrs. M. Chesney, Mrs. E. Boyle and Mrs. I. Alexander. Dr. Hildegarde Henderson was the doctor in charge. Vaccinations will be given later on in the summer.

CITY COUNCIL HAS INTERESTING MEET

Last Monday evening a regular meeting of the City Council was held, all members being president, Mayor H. H. Smith presiding.

A communication was received from George A. Lombard, 141 Flournoy street, advising the Council that his property had been taxed for the weed assessment in error. Mr. Lombard was advised to file his claim with City Clerk B. C. Ross, who would check up on same.

A petition was received from the Veterans' Welfare Board, asking for the cancellation of certain taxes appearing on the tax records as a lien against property owned by the board. The petition was granted.

The Pacific Gas and Electric Company applied for a permit to cut a 2-foot trench and lay a 2-inch pipe therein on the north and south side of Moltke street from San Bruno avenue to a point approximately 250 feet westerly, to supply two customers and a prospective consumer with gas. The permit was granted.

A communication was received from Winifred Gordon, 258 Edgmar street, advising the Council of a "tumbledown shack" in the 200 block of Edgmar street, which is unsanitary and should be torn down. This communication was referred to the building inspector.

The street committee reported that the work of repairing cracks in the various streets throughout the city was progressing very rapidly, showing a wonderful improvement.

The ordinance committee reported that the peddlers' ordinance had been drawn up and was ready for adoption as soon as it had been taken up at the next Merchants' meeting.

An inhalator was purchased for the fire department. The purpose of this investment is to revive people when overcome by smoke or deadly fumes, during a fire, or any other time when necessary. The fire department is very proud of this instrument, and the purchasing of it is just another spoke in the wheel of progress in city affairs.

The monthly bills were read and ordered paid.

DALY CITY MAN IS MARRIED TO POPULAR SAN MATEO GIRL

Miss Rose Taylor, of San Mateo, and Frank Humdahl, of Daly City, were united in marriage last Saturday evening at eight o'clock at a ceremony performed by Rev. Harold G. Gardner in St. Paul's Episcopal church.

The bride wore a frock of pink satin with pink tulle veil held in place with orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of pink roses and lilies of the valley. Attending her as matron of honor was her sister, Mrs. L. Maser, who wore Nile green crepe trimmed with pink and carried a bouquet of pink peas. The flower girl was little Audrey Walker, who wore a dainty frock of orchid organdie and carried a basket of sweet peas and roses. Attending the groom as best man was W. Evans, of San Francisco.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Louis Renner, and during the ceremony Thomas Dempsey, of San Mateo, sang two solos, "I Love You Truly" and "Oh, Promise Me."

A reception at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. Louisa Renner, at 325 North Claremont street, followed the ceremony. Mrs. Humdahl has lived in San Mateo all her life and attended the San Mateo schools. Humdahl has made his home in Daly City. Following a wedding tour to Oregon and Washington, the young couple will live in San Mateo.

AVOID MUSSELS! WARNS DOCTOR

Do not eat mussels at this time of the year. This is the warning sounded by Dr. W. M. Dickie, director of the state department of public health, at Sacramento.

The season of the year is approaching, he said, when the eating of mussels may be dangerous, particularly during the months of July and August.

"Mussel and clam poisoning are due to the presence of poison in these shellfish, which are probably the result," he said, "of a metabolism disease."

CELEBRATES NINTH BIRTHDAY

Florence Bizzo, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bizzo, of Wilson street, celebrated her ninth birthday with a party given in her honor on last Tuesday. The little hostess received many lovely gifts. The table was very prettily decorated. Twenty-four of her little friends and neighbors were present. The youngsters had an enjoyable time playing indoor games.

The Great Outdoors Is Calling

MERCHANTS SLUG HARD TO CONQUER

Converting hits into runs was the task accomplished by the Daly City Merchants. Only four of the local nines' safeties were wasted in their 14 to 4 victory over the Guadalupe Natives.

The Merchant batters collected fifteen hits for a total of twenty-two bases. Del Ahrens led the attack with four safeties, including a home run with the bases loaded. Four other batters, Plansky, Sloan, Hawley and Fabin garnered two hits in this hitting spree.

Fred Strand was the only local player to go hitless, but he redeemed himself on the field. Fred accepted seven chances without an error and made six putouts. He also helped execute the seventh double play completed by the Merchants in the last six games.

Fabin, Daly City chucker, pitched a whale of a game after a dubious start. He had a little trouble finding the plate in the first inning, allowing three runs to be scored on two hits. "Specks" kept the Natives' six bingles well scattered after that frame. He whiffed five batters and walked three.

CROCKER P. T. A. HAVE THEIR ANNUAL PICNIC

The Crocker Parent-Teachers' Association held their second annual picnic at Fleischaker's play ground on June 19. A short meeting was held at the conclusion of the basket lunch, Mrs. Alexander presiding. Being the final meeting of the year, there was little business to transact, other than the paying of bills and commuications. A letter of thanks was received from Miss Roussell, district president, for the gift presented her shortly after the installation. A letter of thanks was also read from Miss Del Piano's class for the prize received for having the most mothers present at the May meeting. Mrs. Swan reported the candy had been presented to the graduates at their theatre party on June 11.

The president concluded her convention report. This the members enjoyed and it is hoped that as an association and as individuals they have received something of value from the reports.

Crocker was very happy to welcome Mrs. O'Neil as a new member. The officers and members feeling that the year's activities had been very much worth while and with hopes that the coming year would be even more so, the meeting adjourned.

After adjournment some of the mothers made a tour of inspection and enjoyed themselves riding the merry-go-round and seeing the animals, forgetting for the time the cares that were theirs.

THE CALVARY CHAPEL HOLDS ANNUAL PICNIC

On Saturday, June 21, Calvary Baptist Chapel held its annual church school picnic. In spite of the inclement weather, a large crowd attended the outing. Before the group left the chapel for the picnic, reels of motion pictures were shown. Felix the Cat performed and Paul Revere's Ride was again lived on the screen.

The church school group then left for the park, where games were played, and after lunch had been served a variety of races were held.

The 50 yard three-legged race was won by Russell Sorg, Charles Wegg coming in second.

The cracker eating contest was won by Ruth Bandoni. Betty Gilger won the 20 yard potato race. Next a 40 yard foot-race was won by George Martin, Ivan Sorg coming in second. In the 30 yard foot-race, Barbara Jean Norville won first prize and Betty Gilger second prize. Jane Morris won the 40 yard foot-race run by the Junior girls.

Then came a wheelbarrow race, Warren Tucker and Oliver Wegg being the winning team. Little Jack Sorg, aged 5 years, proved himself quite a sprinter in the 40 yard race of the primary department. He came out ahead with flying colors, winning first prize.

The women of the church proved themselves excellent discuss throwers, only pie-plates were used in the place of the heavy irons. Miss Priscilla Williams showed her strength by winning first place, and Mrs. E. Williams came in a close second.

A very open-eyed contest followed. The girls were lined up for a "Thread the Needle Race." Thelma Archer succeeded in threading her needle first, thereby winning the first prize. All of the boys of 10 years and under were next lined up for a final 40 yard foot-race. George Martin came out ahead in this great wind-up, winning the much coveted first prize.

Winon Hicks and Jane Morris won the three-legged contest for girls.

At the close of the games ice cream was served and everybody went home rejoicing over the good time they had, and all were ready to do it over again next year.

CHILDREN'S NIGHT AT GRACE CHURCH

Sunday evening at 7:45 the children will have a special service of their own. The Church Vacation School, which is at present in session, will be put into action in the church on Sunday evening. The children dramatize the Bible stories, and the public will enjoy these dramatizations, because, frankly, some of them are funny. The young ones have their own way of doing things. Come and se how the children depict the Good Samaritan and his donkey! And Daniel in the lions' den. The Vacation School will close July 3.

BETHEL FULL GOSPEL MISSION

This mission is doing a pioneer work in Daly City. As far as we can find out there never has been a full Gospel work in this neighborhood before. This makes us all the more thankful for the wonderful success we have had by the grace of God. Each meeting sees new faces in our midst, but we do not allow them to be strangers long. Just as soon as you have passed in at the door you become one of us. Last Lord's Day morning "Prayer" was the central theme of our pastor's sermon. What a comfort and a blessing it is to know that our Savior hears our prayers and answers them in His own good time. We get discouraged sometimes because we do not get an answer right away, but let us always remember that our time is not always God's time and He knows what is best for us all.

MAKE DALY CITY TOWN BEAUTIFUL

Most people want to live in beautiful surroundings. Families free to locate where they please choose a town that has a beauty appeal. New industries seeking a location take into consideration the kind of home environment their employees will have. They know that attractive surroundings have much to do with the morale of their workers.

The Town Beautiful idea is one of the essentials of community growth, but it cannot be realized without the participation of everyone in the community. We need more attractive homes in Daly City. This does not necessarily call for much expense but it does involve enthusiasm and co-operation. Everyone can help by painting where paint is needed, planting flowers and shrubs, trimming lawns, perhaps adding a splash of color with window boxes and awnings. The expense of such improvement is small in comparison with the results. The first impression of a visitor to Daly City will be, "People seem to take a lot of pride in their property here. It must be a good place to live," which is the finest kind of community advertising. Let's let people know that we like to live in Daly City, and they will want to live here, too. Homes that have been made attractive with fresh paint and well kept yards cannot help but give out the impression of prosperity and contentment.

The business people of Daly City will do their part in the Town Beautiful movement, the civic authorities will do their part—how about you?

Read the page, "A Thing of Beauty" elsewhere in this issue. It is presented by a progressive group of business and professional men. They have caught the vision. We hope you will do likewise.

INTERESTING SERMON AT CALVARY CHAPEL

Rev. Charles Woessner, pastor of the Calvary Baptist Chapel, 5724 Mission street, announces the following services for next Sunday: In the morning, "The Redeemer's Tears Over Lost Souls;" in the evening, "The Life Beyond."

At the morning service the choir will render "Man of Sorrows," by B. B. McKinney. "Tenting by the Cross" by Robert Harkness, will be the choir special in the evening service. This will be the first renderings since Miss Madie Irons has taken over the leadership of the choir. Much time has ben put in to the preparation of these numbers. They will be a great blessing to all that will be present to hear them.

At 9:45 the motion picture "In Birdland." It deals with finches in snow, Chickadees; English sparrows; Building bird houses; Nuthatch feeding young; sparrows, etc.

The evening motion picture will begin at 6:45. The reels to be shown are "Life History of the Mosquito." This picture is a splendid background for the picture which is to follow, "Panama Canal," for it was the mosquito which spread malaria in the Canal Zone, making the engineering feature a great problem for years.

"Obedience" is a specially prepared reel for the kiddies. The biological sketch will be the review of the life of Benjamin Franklin.

The showing of these pictures will begin promptly at 6:45 P. M. The great Fourth of July picture will be shown on Sunday evening, July 6. It consists of three reels titled "The Declaration of Independence." The showing of these pictures will begin at 6:30 P. M.

Calvary Baptist Chapel is not making an attempt to "put on a show." It is the efforts of the Chapel to show educational films; films which broaden the horizon of one's knowledge. From time to time religious as well as educational pictures will be shown. There are on charges for admission; only a silver offering is taken to help take care of the current expenses of the church.

EAGLE GATHERING

The committee on the forthcoming theatre party of the Colma Vista Grand Aerie No. 1848, which is scheduled to be held in the Daly City Theatre on the evening of July 30, 1930, met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Williamson, on Vista Grande avenue, Wednesday evening of last week.

Upon the conclusion of the business of the committee, a delicious Spanish supper was served by the hostess.

The guests included: B. J. Kost, A. J. Bodien, A. J. Dalton, E. Heim, Ed. Trier, Le Mar Johnson, Wm. Merritt, Fred Collins, E. Nessier, Harry Warren, Herbert Harper, Wm. Bolger, Chas. Williamson.

The boys who enjoyed Mrs. Williamson's hospitality wish to extend her a vote of thanks for her kind hospitality.

WESTERN PACIFIC WINS BATTLE FOR PENINSULA ROAD

Construction of the Western Pacific railway's branch from San Francisco through San Mateo and Redwood City and across the bay to Niles is believed assured as the result of the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission, granting tthe application of the Great Northern for a connection with the Western Pacific at Keddie.

"This action of the Interstate Commerce Commission is positive assurance that the Redwood City line will be given a permit," declared Judge John J. McGrath, president of the Peninsula Industrial Conference, and an active participant in presentation of the Western Pacific case.

"The Great Northern decision is of great importance to San Mateo county," he continued. "It means that this territory is facing an era of development such as has never before been experienced here. It means factories and business and growth beyond the dreams of us who have been fighting for years for just such development."

Civic leaders pointed out that the case of the Western Pacific presented to an I. C. C. examiner in San Francisco recently, already so strong as almost to compel favorable action, was made doubly strong by the decision. If a direct rail entrance to San Francisco is necessary to the Western Pacific alone it is regarded as doubly imoprtant with the Great Northern link in operation, for the main purpose of the connection is to give Pacific Northwest products a direct line to San Francisco and other California points. The I. C. C. decision on the Redwood City line is expected by September.

Announcement was made in San Francisco by President H. M. Adams of the Western Pacific that work on the Keddie to Klamath Falls link will begin within thirty days.

The tremendous battle of the transcontinental carriers, which had its inception in the days of Hill and Harriman, was terminated by the decision of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The Great Northern and its southern ally, the Western Pacific, emerged victorious from the epic fight, with a permit to spend fourteen million dollars in building 200 miles of connecting trackage, despite the vigorous opposition of the Southern Pacific.

The Western Pacific, under terms of the Interstate Commerce grant, will immediately begin construction of 112 miles of main line from its present San Francisco-Salt Lake system at Keddie, Pluma county, Cal., north to Beiber, Cal.

The Great Northern simultaneously will start construction from the Oregon line south to Beiber, a distance of 88 miles.

The Western Pacific's part of the building program will cost approximately ten million dollars, and the Great Northern's three million dollars. In addition, the two companies jointly are to acquire and extend feeder lines into the timber of Northern California.

The building of the Western Pacific line up the Peninsula to San Francisco will be of great benefit to the shippers and residents of the Peninsula district.

PHILHARMONIC CONCERTS AT WOODLAND THEATRE

Promptly at 3 o'clock next Sunday afternoon, Bernardino Molinari, foremost exponent in Italy of symphonic music and conductor of the Augusteo orchestra of Rome, will lift his baton to direct the personnel of the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra at the first concert of the fifth season of open air concerts in the Woodland Theatre at Hillsborough, under the auspices of the Philharmonic Society of San Mateo County.

Throughout the week the orchestra has been rehearsing under the tutelage of Molinari's inspiring direction, and a program of rare beauty is assured those who take advantage of the privilege of hearing the concert midst the charm of the natural setting that surrounds the outdoor theatre.

The Woodland Theatre programs this year will not be the same as those given in the San Francisco Tuesday evening series, as the latter concerts will be broadcast, and this precludes the inclusion of many modern works and recent compositions which will be heard only in the Sunday afternoon programs.

A featured number of the first concert will be Respighi's "The Pines of Rome," for which there has been insistent and frequent demand since Molinari first introduced it to Woodland Theatre audiences on the occasion of his fist visit two seasons ago.

UNUSUAL ACCIDENT

At 6:50 P. M. last Sunday evening a Buick driven by Frederico Mutto, of Colma, struck a home at Vale and Mateo streets. A. Beryacchi, a passenger in the machine with Mutto, was slightly injured about the head. He was attended by his family physician. Mutto said he came off of Vale and turned into Mateo a left turn and could not straighten out the machine and hit the back porch of the house, damaging it.

REPAIRMAN SAVES BOY'S LIFE; GETS SILVER MEDAL

First Aid Scores Again in Dramatic Rescue of Lad From Electrocution

On the afternoon of June 26, 1929, Ephraim Walter Decker, repairman for the New York Telephone Company, was inspecting telephone equipment at a public school at Rosebank, Staten Island, N. Y., when he was notified that a boy was lying on the third rail of the tracks of an electric railway a short distance away.

EPHRAIM WALTER DECKER

Hastening to the scene, the telephone man found the boy lying across the third rail on one of the tracks, while sparks were flying and smoke curling from the point where the knee came in contact with the third rail. Carefully placing his feet on one of the wooden railroad ties, Decker, who had taken the telephone company's course in first aid training, jerked the boy free of the deadly contact.

The victim's breathing had stopped, and he was severely burned about the face and knee. Recognizing the critical condition of the boy, Mr. Decker immediately started artificial respiration and persisted in its application for over half an hour, when breathing was restored and the boy was taken in an ambulance to the hospital where he later recovered.

If it had not been for the resourcefulness and persistence of the telephone man, the boy, undoubtedly, would have died, and because of his prompt and courageous action, Mr. Decker has been awarded a 1930 Vail silver medal, together with a cash award of $250.

STATES HAVE VARIOUS REGISTRATION RULES

Motorists who contemplate visiting other states during their vacation trips are advised to acquaint themselves with the different regulations covering registration in various parts of the country, according to the Legal Department of the California State Automobile Association.

Although California allows a non-resident motorist six months before requiring that a license be taken out, most other states are not so generous and in some instances allow only a few days. The states which have full reciprocity laws applicable to non-resident motorists are: Alabama, Connecticut, Delaware, Florida, Idaho, Iowa, Maine, Montana, Nebraska, New York, North Dakota, Ohio, Pennsylvania, South Dakota, Vermont, Virginia, Washington, Wisconsin, and the District of Columbia.

States which have limited reciprocity laws are: Maryland, reciprocal, except privilege lost after three months continuous residence in state; Massachusetts, reciprocal, except if have place of business or abode in state for thirty days; North Carolina, reciprocal, but must register within ten days and pay a fee of a dollar.

States which allow non-residents six months are: Arizona, California and Illinois.

States allowing either three months or ninety days are Arkansas, Colorado, Louisiana, Michigan, Minnesota, Missouri, New Jersey, Nevada, New Mexico, Oregon, West Virginia and Wyoming.

States which allow thirty days are Georgia, Kentucky, Mississippi, Rhode Island, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas.

Utah allows ten days, after which time the motorist may pay one dollar for temporary registration good for six months.

The California State Automobile Association assists in welcoming visiting motorists to California by issuance of visitors permits for their cars from all its thrity-four offices. Incoming tourists are also supplied by the Automobile Association with free data on resorts, hotels, fishing and hunting conditions, road information, etc.

THE VAMPIRES

In current slang, as is well known, the term "vamp," a contraction of "vampire," is used to designate a seductive female.

In olden times, and even in parts of Eastern Europe, the vampire was considered a more sinister and fearsome entity.

In the original meaning, a vampire was supposed to be the soul of a dead person which leaves the buried body at night to suck the blood of living persons, usually causing their death. Hence, it was believed that upon opening the grave of a vampire the body would be found still fresh and rosy from the blood thus absorbed.

Dead persons most likely to become vampires were supposed to be those who had committed suicide or had come to death by violent means, also wizards, witches and those who had been cursed by their parents or by the church. A cat crossing a grave might transform the occupant into a vampire.

To stop the depredations of a supposed vampire, it was thought necessary to drive a stake through the corpse, sever the head, remove the heart, burn the body, or pour boiling water and vinegar on the grave.

Later the term vampire was applied to certain species of bloodsucking bats of Central and South America, concerning which many popular superstitions have also arisen.

Finally, we have the alluring vampire, or "vamp," of the movie screen and Main Street. But there isn't much superstition about her.

Some government commissions are supposed to be fact-finding bodies, but the Federal Trade Commission appears to specialize in fault-finding.

A Chicago woman is suing for divorce because her plumber husband refuses to put a bathtub in their home. Maybe he can't sing, and knows it.

Claims of aggrieved ladies suing for alimony run into the millions. And those old Forty-niners thought they were gold-diggers.

It is predicted that the silent movie will soon become obsolete. If its passing results in a silent audience, all will be well.

LOOSE PISTON TROUBLE

Operation of your car is not necessarily impaired to any great extent by a loose piston, but this trouble is an indication that the engine needs attention, according to the Free Emergency Road Service of the California State Automobile Association. Frequently a loose wrist pin or connecting rod bearing will make a noise similar to a "piston slap." The only positive way to determine where the trouble is, is to dissemble the piston assembly for inspection.

John Law Gets One of Every Five

Arrests for violation of motor vehicle rules are increasing so rapidly that the average city driver has only one chance in five of escaping the summons of the law each year, the California State Automobile Association has been advised in a report of nation-wide significance prepared by the American Automobile Association. The percentage is considerably smaller in rural communities, but this is attributed to fewer policemen in such districts rather than to a drop in the number of violations.

Percentage of Women Drivers

About one-fourth of the persons driving automobiles are women, reports the California State Automobile Association. According to a survey by the American Automobile Association made from state registration records and from counts involving car registrations of 7,385,000, it was found that 23.4 per cent were women.

Shut Off Car Engine When On Boats

Motorists should remember that there is a strict federal regulation which makes it unlawful to allow automobile engines to run on a ferry while the boat is moving. The rule is a safety measure that deserves the attention of every car owner or driver. As soon as your car has been parked on a ferry, shut off the engine and do not start it again until the ferry has docked.

Pack Luggage on Car to Comply with Law

An excellent point for visiting motorists to remember is to tie luggage securely and keep it from projecting past the hub caps on the right side. The Legal Department of the California State Automobile Association points out that this is the requirement of the state law.

In replacing spring shackle bolts on your car, take care not to get them too tight, advises the Free Emergency Road Service of the California State Automobile Association. If they are too tight, the car will ride harder and there is also the possibility of breaking a spring leaf due to impaired flexibility.

The condenser is in the electrical system of your car to prevent the high-tension electric current from fouling the breaker points. A tendency toward dirty breaker points indicates that the condenser is not efficient and should be replaced.

Battery water evaporates faster in summer, therefore the battery in your car should be checked oftener.

HURT IN AUTO CRASH

Jack Stender, 30, 981 Caroline street, San Francisco, is in the South San Francisco hospital recovering from injuries received in a collision on the Bayshore highway and Linden avenue, South San Francisco. He was injured when the car in which he was riding, being driven by Robert L. Rundahl, 977 Hensley avenue, San Bruno, was struck by a car of which Charles J. Carlson, 78 Anderson street, San Francisco, was the driver.

Paul finished, and it seemed as though tiny raindrops were falling in his brain, so clearly could he hear and feel the beating of his pulse. In a few moments the moaning of life came to him in a distant wave. It struck nearer in the slamming of an elevator door. Indistinct voices passed down the hall. From another street, blocks away, the hammering of rivet drivers on new steel rose above the rush and roar of traffic. Paul looked from his window, as if he might see the pit, out of which the same sound had come night and day for three years. His eyes fell upon gloomy, sooty walls. Under him lay an unending fabric of men's toil, a great sea of roofs strung with wires, craggy with ugly architectural warts, broken with chimneys, streaked with tarred gutters, and with the gaping, shifting mouths of ventilating funnels sucking air into their artificial lungs. He looked down and saw a thousand moving things, in a stream, like ants, every hurrying particle a human soul struggling in the furious Twentieth century effort to make itself greater than God. From all this Claire had freed him. She had given him new life, and with it love and happiness. He crushed her letter in his hand as if some pitiful breath might wrench its precious pages from him.

Then he turned to the telephone. It was impossible for him to wait. He wanted to tell her there was one other woman in the world as wonderful as Carla.

In Claire's voice was a trembling note of happiness when he said this.

"Dear old Paul," she cried softly. "But you mustn't come to me until evening. I have something which I must do before I see you again."

That night, when he went to his home, Claire was not there.

She had left a note for him.

"I have gone to see Carla," it said. "Only a woman can make another woman—like Carla—understand."

CHAPTER XIV

And here we find ourselves where we began, with the lovely Crippled Lady on her porch at Peribonka.

She had lived a year in Peribonka when we set out to tell this story. A winter had passed, another spring, a summer, and now it was the beginning of glorious September. September is the most beautiful of all months in the Lac St. Jean country. A softness is in the air which one does not feel at any other time, a breath of ripened forests, a soothing warmth and comradeship of earth and water which is like a song. The big river across the road and down the green bank from the Crippled Lady's gardens of flowers is friendliest then. Its water is a sheen of laughter. Its snowy sandbars possess the quality of softened whiteness which gives to them almost the purity of a woman's breasts.

There have been changes since the Crippled Lady was borne from the hospital to the place, near her mother, where she wants to live. The pit is no longer a pit, but a mighty force driving its energy in unending streams through high-tension wires. The Mistassini may rumble and roar and growl, but it is a slave, securely shackled, and will probably go on laboring for its human masters for all time. This change — or development — was expected, anticipated by experts almost to the day and hour. But others were not. The world, for instance, accepting a very small corner of it as the whole, could not understand why a man like Paul Kirke should deliberately sever himself from the huge prestige and wealth built by his father's success, and, as the story went, bear away with him all his personal possessions in a trunk and a handbag. It could understand, quite easily, how a husband and wife might end their marital relationship, but it was puzzled and shocked that a woman like Claire Kirke should throw herself away, soon afterward, on a stoop-shouldered, prematurely ageing man who was possessed of nothing on earth but an admirable passion for shaping things out of marble.

"There are a lot of people who taken collectively, are like a big gaping boor," Claire said in a letter to Carla. "They are amusing for a time. Then they become normal again."

This was just before she went west to join Jimmy Ennerdale in his work of completing a marble group for an important civic center.

After she got there she wrote Carla:

"It is magnificent. When it is finished we are going to spend a year in Capri, working together."

Capri, the Mediterranean—the habitant country, Lac St. Jean—

"It is glorious here," Carla wrote back. "I love September!"

Carla always sits on her porch so that she is looking up the river toward the north. Paul is there, working out a part of the dream which absorbs them both. Thirty miles beyond the green and blue-black edge of wilderness which she can see Paul has a timber concession, and fifteen men working with him, where a little while before he might have had fifteen thousand. But these fifteen men, and what they are planning to do with the concession, mean more to Paul and Carla than all the millions in the world.

"It is not necessary to slaughter Nature, or even harm her, in order to possess for ourselves some of her products," Paul says in a paper he is writing for a pulp-wood journal. "There is such a thing as harvesting lumber and having a better forest each year instead of a diminished one. Nature wants to fraternize with us, and will, when we cease to sack and plunder her like vandals."

Next year the fifteen men will be increased to fifty, but now camps are being built and just enough timber harvested to cover the expense of the work. Paul labors with his ax, along with the others, from morning until night.

Every Friday he comes down the river to Carla.

Carla knows that she is going to get strong and well. This mental attitude, her sureness and optimism, together with her great happiness, has overcome the doubt of physicians. She is beginning to stand a little, with Paul's arms about her, and their two precious days a week together are filled with wonderful plans of what she is going to do in another year. Wherever Paul is, there she will also be. That is the point from which they always start in building their castles.

No shadow is cast over their happiness because Carla cannot walk. Paul wheels her about the village in the big chair, and not a cottage is missed in their visits. They go as far as the little picturesque old cheese factory and down the hill to the still older wharf where the boat comes in from across the lake. Doctor Derwent, who is at Mistassini, has allowed Carla to go twice to the monastery, in Paul's launch, and if October is fine she will make her first trip to his concession during that month. Paul takes her over the soft, sandy roads to the edge of the blueberry plains in a buggy, and then carries her in his arms to a place where she can help him pick fruit for their Sunday dinner. He will never give up carrying her like that, he says, even when she is strong again.

Peribonka has grown happier with them. Even Maria Chapdelaine is younger, and Samuel has forgotten his financial losses.

So Carla wrote to Claire:

"It is glorious here. I love September."

[THE END.]

Youth's First Earnings Usually Go for Food

When a boy closes his first adventure in finance with money in his pockets, earned by his own efforts, his first impulse is to buy something to eat.

"We have no more important customer," said the proprietor of a city lunch counter, "than the boy who has earned his first dollar. Now, you don't often find a boy whose clothing indicates financial straits at a soda counter in a drug store. His needs are for something more satisfying, and he comes to us. He looks over the menu with an eye to quantity rather than to quality. Corned beef and cabbage have a greater appeal to him than artichokes, and having eaten he puts a small tip beside his place with a nonchalance that is amusing."

The boy may have a few cents left. If there is no urgent need for his contribution to the family budget he stops at a store on the way home and buys his mother something she does not need. Thus, very early, he begins expressing his love in the stereotyped masculine way.

Deference to Others

Tolerance is willingness to grant to the opinions and actions of others the same consideration you do to your own. You may not agree with such acts or ideas, but this does not mean that you are right and they are wrong.—Grit.

CALIFORNIA NEWS REVIEW

All the mail and part of the equipment of the Pinedale postoffice was saved recently by Postmaster Charles F. Gallman when fire destroyed the building. The postmaster lamented the fact that the fire, of unknown origin, was a depressing climax to his birthday anniversary on Friday, the 13th.

In a spirited contest, Miss Marjorie Hannum, of Brentwood, was chosen queen of the fifth annual Diablo Valley Apricot Festival, to be held here June 27-29. As "Miss Apricot," the young Byron girl will reign over the festival. The Misses Myrtle Richardson, Eileen Hanson, Della Crocco and Evelyn Johnson will be in her train. Mayor James Rolph Jr., of San Francisco, will open the coronation ball and place the crown on the queen's head June 27.

California counties making exhibits at the State Fair and Western Exposition in Sacramento next September will compete for $10,200 in premium money. In making this announcement, Charles W. Paine, secretary-manager of the fair, said almost every county would have a booth at the exposition. Premium money for the county competition is divided into three general classes: horticultural products, $6273; agricultural products $2690, and minerals $1235.

Motor travel into California this season is much heavier than last year, on the basis of checks made at six border stations of the motor vehicle division. Victor F. Kilick, statistician of the division, declared. From January 1 to the 1st inst. there were 85,740 individuals counted at the stations, compared with 26,285 during the same period last year. The stations are maintained on all principal highways leading into California, and almost all cars entering the State are checked, Kilick said.

Legal impediments to construction of new barracks at the veterans' home at Yountville were cleared away when Atty.-Gen. U. S. Webb informed Lyman M. King, State finance director, that funds of the State Athletic Commission could legally be used for that purpose. The projected barracks would replace presen structures which have been declared to be unsafe, as well as unsightly and lacking in comfort for occupants. Webb pointed out that the State law reads that funds of the athletic commission, above $40,000 operating expenses, may used for veterans' homes.

Two noncommissioned officers of the California National Guard have been appointed second lieutenants, Gen. R. E. Mittelstaedt announced. Sergt. Bert H. Gimblin, Chico, Company G, One Hundred and Eighty-fourth Infantry, was appointed second lieutenant and assigned to the same regiment vice First Lieutenant Raymond G. Steele, promoted to captain. Corp. Harley H. Frink, Maxwell, Headquarters Company, Second Battalion, One Hundred and Eighty-fourth Infantry, was appointed second lieutenant vice Shafter O. Tankersley, discharged.

The "Southern Cross" airplane, conqueror of the Pacific Ocean and now poised in Ireland for a trans-atlantic flight to New York, will be presented as a trophy to Hancock Foundation College of Aeronautics when Captain Kingsford-Smith and his companions finish their hop. That was announced by Captain G. Allen Hancock, capitalist and founder of the college, who backed the Oakland to Brisbane, Australia, flight. Smith notified Hancock he would fly the "Southern Cross" to Santa Maria from New York if the trans-atlantic flight succeeds.

California leads the world in rural electrification, J. J. Deuel, manager of the Law and Utilities Department, California Farm Bureau Federation, told members of the National Electric Light Association recently. Deuel was the principal speaker at the meeting of the rural electric service committee held in San Francisco recently, and his description of the widespread use of electric machinery on California farms brought applause from the national leaders of the industry, who attended the meeting. Citing figures to support his assertion regarding California's leadership, Deuel pointed out that the farmers of this State in 1929 used approximately 1.3 per cent of all the electrical energy produced by central stations throughout the United States for all purposes. They consumed 1,200,000,000 kilowatt hours, for which they paid nearly $19,000,000, and the average consumption per farm was nearly 21,000 kilowatt hours.

Plans for the annual summer camp of the Humboldt Boy Scouts have been discussed at a meeting of scoutmasters of Eureka. More than 120 scouts will attend. The Humboldt Scoutmasters' Association elected Dr. H. H. Stuart as president and W. Brown, secretary.

Plans are under way for establishment of a large soap factory at Bakersfield, according to business men who have organized a $200,000 company to be known as the Shasta Soap Company.

Six radicals, found guilty recently on charges of criminal syndicalism, were given prison sentences and one was ordered deported by Judge Vaughn M. Thompson. Frank Spector, L. Emory and D. Roxas were sentenced to from one to 14 years in San Quentin prison. C. Sklar, O. Erickson and T. Horruichi were sentenced to 1 to 14 years in Folsom. E. Alonso was ordered deported.

Plans for the new city park in Vallejo are now under consideration. The proposed location is the three blocks lying between Georgia and Florida streets and Amador street and the Southern Pacific Railroad tracks. It is expected that a substantial appropriation for the purchase of the proposed site and the preliminary improvement probably will be contained in the city budget for next year.

Committeemen were preparing for an attendance of 3000 persons at the annual gathering of the California Christian Endeavor Union to be held at Sacramento the 25th and 29th inst. A special train will bring delegates from Los Angeles and other Southern California points and special electric trains were to be run from the San Francisco Bay district. Lawrence A. Downey, Visalia, State president of the union, and Howard L. Brown, Glendale, general field secretary, were here recently making preliminary arrangements. They said interest in the conclave indicated it would be the largest in the history of the organization.

Levy of taxes totaling $42,389,702.80 against California public utilities and insurance companies to meet State general fund revenue needs for the new fiscal year, beginning July 1, was announced today by the State Board of Equalization. The taxes show a gain of $2,566,902.76, or 6.44 per cent over the corresponding levies for 1929. The rate of gain was cited as almost double the tax increase from 1928 to 1929. Telephone and telegraph companies led all others in rate of tax increase, with a gain of 10.48 per cent, the board said. Next came gas and electric companies, with a tax jump of 8.63 per cent and insurance corporations with an inchease of 7.86 per cent.

Barley carryover throughout California totaled 1,668,160 centals on June 1, 1930, as against 1,407,040 centals on June 1, 1929, and 6,839,740 centals during the new crop movement December 1, 1929. Figures representing stocks in warehouses throughout the State were compiled by James J. Sullivan, chief inspector of the Grain Trade Association, San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, and announced to members of the local grain trade. Flour on hand decreased to 163,849 barrels from 188,256 barrels during the half year ended June 1, and compares with 172,896 barrels on hand June 1, a year ago. Wheat stood at 790,780 centals on June 1 against 2,827,620 centals December 1, 1929, and 978,940 centals a year ago. Oats dropped to 59,480 centals from 268,120 centals on December 1 and 76,580 centals last June.

Although the death recently of Mrs. Leana Charity Donner App at Jamestown was generally believed to have removed the last survivor of the historic Donner party, two members of that ill-fated band are still alive, Gen. C. F. McGlashan of Truckee declared. Gen. McGlashan is author of "The History of the Donner Party," and is recognized as an authority on this chapter of California history. Present survivors of the party, he said, are Isabel M. Breen-McMahon, San Francisco, and Naomi L. Pike-Schenck, The Dalles, Or. Both were declared to be in the branch of the party which spent the winter of 1846-47 at Donner Lake, Mrs. McMahon then being a babe in arms. Gen. McGlashan said the party started from Sangamon county, Illinois, and later split up, one group going into Oregon and escaping the harrowing experiences of those who came to California.

Based on his successful activities during the first three months of this year, the stork promises to set up a new record for babies delivered in California in 1930. Figures given out by the State Department of Health show 21,056 homes were visited by the old bird during January, February and March of this year, an increase of 1,758 or nine per cent over the same months of last year. A similar increase for the remainder of the year would mean 88,833 babies in the twelve months. The highest number yet recorded was in 1924, when the total was 86,899. That year the birth rate also reached its apex, 22.2 per 1,000 of population. Last year it had dropped to 18.3. Of the 21,056 babies born in the first quarter of this year, 3,839 or 18.2 were Mexican. This was a gain of 542 Mexican births. Births by cities were as follows: Los Angeles, 4,482; San Francisco, 1,891; Oakland, 983; Long Beach, 552; Pasadena, 293; Glendale, 273; Santa Monica, 197; Berkeley, 186; Alameda, 116.

The grass burning crew of the Vallejo Fire Department will take steps to burn off dry grass in vacant lots inside the city limits. E. J. Blanco, commissioner of public health and safety, has issued the order.

With a "100 per cent paved city" as the ultimate aim, a survey of Santa Rosa's unpaved streets was in progress under the direction of City Manager C. O. Dunbar and City Engineer A. P. Noyes. Dunbar said that a very small portion of the city's streets, not over 15 or 20 blocks, remain unpaved.

RULE MAKES VETS ROOKIES AGAIN

President of Southern Circuit Makes Odd Order.

A flock of grizzled old guys with graying hair are in the same class with the Southern association's tender youths, John D. Martin, president of the loop, has ruled.

In other words, the old warhorses signed as free agents are classified as rookies under the league's Class B ruling which requires that each club carry five players who haven't had a season's experience in Class A baseball.

Martin's interpretation made "rookies" of such veterans as Lee Meadows, former Pittsburgh pitching ace, now with Atlanta; Milton Stock, formerly with St. Louis and other National league clubs, another Cracker; Jimmy Johnston, ex-Brooklyn infielder, on the Atlanta payroll, and Ivy Wingo, one time Cincinnati backstop, who also graces the Atlanta lineup.

Other "rookies" are Wild Matthews, one time spark plug for Philadelphia and Washington; Frank Walker, Atlanta outfielder who once sold himself from the Sally league to the New York Giants; Frank Brazill, Memphis first sacker, and Jim Poole, Nashville first baseman, who has been in about every class of baseball played.

The model of a new stall starting gate has been shown at Belmont Park. It appears to be an improvement over others of the kind in that it is less cumbersome and can be put in place after the horses arrive at the starting point and can be swung off quickly. It is called the swing quick gate.

The stalls fold up when not in use and are heavily padded. The mechanism is simple and said to be fool-proof. The stalls are mounted on a carriage which swings on a quadrant.

It is planned to build a full sized gate to test the practical operation.

The Pacific coast conference will not follow in the big ten's footsteps and employ a commissioner to supervise athletics. The faculty representatives of the ten schools in the conference, at their meeting at Seattle, voted in favor of the report presented by a committee of three rejecting the "commissioner" plan recommended by the graduate managers of the organization at their fall meeting in San Francisco.

A committee of faculty officials and graduate managers will be appointed, however, to investigate ways and means of selecting officials to referee and umpire athletic games.

Probably the only truly international links in the world are those of the golf club at Basel.

The club is Swiss, but it is located in France. And the most curious feature is that it is a little customs-free spot, surrounded by customs guards who allow the club members to come and go without examination. Instead of passports, the members merely show their club cards. Some are so well known their faces are their passports.

The club was formed in 1926. The American Consul, Calvin M. Hitch, was the only American. Now there are several of his countrymen among the 175.

Gene Sarazen, former open and professional golf champion of the United States, will try again for the British open golf championship. The long-hitting pro, who finished third in the United States open last year, two strokes out of a tie for first place, was runner-up to Walter Hagen in the 1928 British open, completing 72 holes of play with a score of 294 to 292 for the champion.

For some time Sarazen has wavered in a decision to try for the British open.

The world's baseball scoring record was equaled at Fort Wayne when the Fort Wayne Chiefs and the Springfield team of the Central league together piled up a combined total of 56 runs in a wildly sensational ball game which resulted in Springfield winning by a score of 38 to 18.

The combined score equals the world's record made July 21, 1926, by Springfield and Peoria in the Three-I league. Fourteen home runs were made in the game.

GREAT BANQUETS

The button bush flowers aren't like the big buttons one sees in a work box.

So, really, there is no special reason for such a name. Each button bush plant has a great, great many flowers upon it and each one of these flowers is filled with the most delicious honey.

There was going to be a banquet that day, and the banquet table was to be the bush.

It was being held in the swamp where the bush grew. Perhaps you could say that the many, many flowers on the button bush looked a little bit like very small buttons, but anyway each of these flowers was filled with the most delicious honey.

"When is the banquet to begin?" asked one little flower.

"In a very short time," said the Button Bush.

"Patience, though, little flowers. The guests will come soon."

"Who are the guests to be?" asked the flowers.

"All the little insects of the swamp," said the Button Bush.

"Oh, goodie!" they said. "It will be a great and magnificent banquet, a great and gay banquet."

And they all looked very happy.

At last the guests began to arrive, and once they had started to come it seemed as though they would never stop.

Of course, they held banquets every day in the swamp, and many times a day, but this was a very special banquet.

One little insect was seated upon the edge of a tiny button bush flower.

"Will you tell me a secret?" asked the insect.

"What is it?" asked the flower.

"Ah, it's a secret you all have; but if you will tell me I will promise to tell only my friends and companions, the insects.

Guests Began to Arrive.

"You don't mind if we know. We're all such friends."

"What secret have we that you want to know?" asked the little flower.

"Ah, sly one, shy one, you know," said the insect.

The flower moved a little in the breeze. "Have another good sip of honey and I will tell you," said the flower.

"That's an easy command to obey," said the insect.

"We are very, very shy," said the flower. "Yes, all the flowers on each of the button bush flowers are so shy that they want to keep away from people.

"We have been told we would make lovely garden flowers and that people would admire us.

"They say we are so fragrant and sweet and that we are pretty to look at."

"All of which is true," said the insect, making a low bow, and taking another little sip of honey.

"But somehow we love the swamps best. They are so quiet. People don't come to the swamps so much, and we are so shy. People are nice, we haven't a doubt, but we like to be off by ourselves and so we always grow in the swamps where there are no houses, but where there are lots of insects.

"We like insects. They enjoy our delicious honey—for we can't help boasting a little of our honey, which every tiny flower has, and we like to give our honey to the insects.

"We help them and they help us. We all love each other. The insects come to us because they hear of our rare honey and because we are so fragrant that they are drawn to us.

"But, little insects, do not feel sad if the world doesn't see us, and because the world can't share with you our fragrance.

"We are shy, we have always been shy, and we will always be shy.

"But the people in the world outside the swamps have many beautiful things to look at and enjoy and we want to help along the swamps which aren't always so nice.

"And we love to give banquets. Yes, little insect, the button bush and the insect family are great friends when they meet in a good old out-of-the-way swamp!"

BUILDING PICKS UP

That building operations will show a great increase during the second half of the year is the consensus of all branches of the industry.

Contract awards which picked up in March and have shown further rise since should be reflected in sharp activities in late June and July, it is confidently believed. Conservative observers look for the industry to be on a sound basis in July.

Among the important factors which will contribute to this revival of construction operations are the huge building programs of the Federal government and public utilities, the latter being committed to spend a sum estimated at three and a half billion dollars for new construction during the year. This alone is as large as the whole nation's building expenditure a few years ago.

Taken all in all, the general outlook is encouraging, and the work on new projects definitely assured will absorb much surplus labor, increase general buying, and thereby contribute to the revival of prosperity.

HELP BRIGHT STUDENTS

It is to the credit of philanthropic rich men that they have given generously of their wealth for college endowments. But in view of the overcrowding of endowed institutions by alleged students who only go to college for the sake of being known as "college men," it is pertinent to ask whether some restrictions should not be placed upon these bequests.

That any young person not possessing the natural qualifications or character to make proper use of a college course should crowd out an earnest and qualified student is shameful. That any who possess the mental and moral capacity for using higher education for the advancement of mankind should be denied it is a tragedy.

Some of the millions which are donated for the general use of colleges might be put to better use by devoting them to the establishment of more scholarships, including living expenses, for talented boys and girls who are unable to secure higher education without such aid.

PRACTICE COURTESY IN FLAG DISPLAYS

Motorists planning trips into Canada and wanting to show their nationality by displaying the flag of their country should practice the reciprocal courtesy of showing also the flag of the nation being visited, according to a suggestion from the California State Automobile Association. When a series of flags is carried, at least one should be that of the visited country.

WAR CLOUDS IN EUROPE

In spite of all the peace treaties which have been negotiated since the World war, it seems that the outlook for prolonged freedom from European strife is not as bright as it should be.

Just now experienced observers see grave dangers in the attitude of several European powers, especially Russia and Italy. In fact, it is difficult to find a single nation that is satisfied with the preesnt situation, because all are faced with unfavorable economic conditions.

A well known New York publisher upon his recent return from an extended study of European affairs is quoted as saying: "I was never so appalled in my life." Then he declared that the relations between France and Italy were becoming strained almost to the breaking point; that while German was supposed to be disarmed, every youth receives military training; the Scandinavian countries are at swords points among themselves, while Russia is armed to the teeth and only seeks a favorable opportunity to hurl its might against the "capitalistic nations."

These are only the more obvious indications of unrest, while in the former territory of Austria-Hungary, in the Balkans, in Poland and elsewhere the age-old rivalries are still in evidence.

While every right-thinking person will fervently hope that all these present differences may be composed without bloodshed, no student of history can escape the fact that possibilities of another disastrous conflict are too evident to be ignored.

It seems incredible that the lesson of the World war should be so soon forgotten, but the dangers noted are real, and unless European statesmen adopt a more conciliatory attitude, a new war which may virtually destroy Western civilization is not beyond the range of probability.

HELEN KELLER

One of the most remarkable women in the world is Miss Helen Keller, who will be 50 years old this month. Her claim to fame rests on her astounding accomplishments in the face of the most crushing affliction with which a human being could be handicapped.

Born in Tuscumbia, Ala., on June 27, 1880, the daughter of a country editor, an attack of brain fever at the age of 19 months left her entirely deaf, dumb and blind, and apparently a hopeless idiot.

By the time she was eight years old her father was able to arrange for expert care for the child and Miss Anne Sullivan of Boston was entrusted with her education. The ingenious methods and infinite patience employed by her teacher can not be described in this brief sketch, but suffice it to say that in 1904 Miss Keller was graduated from Radcliffe College with an A. B. degree.

Helen Keller never regained her lost faculties, except that of speech to a limited extent, yet she is an author of note, an original thinker of distinction, and a humanitarian who is making a valuable contribution to the welfare of those who suffer from infirmities similar to her own. She is now engaged in raising an endowment fund of two million dollars for the American Foundation for the Blind.

In order to appreciate Miss Keller's amazing accomplishments it is only necessary to consider that while education is readily possible for those who are blind, but retain speech and hearing; or for those who are deaf and dumb, but have their sight; to be deprived of all three faculties would ordinarily mean utter hopelessness.

Thanks to a marvellous brain, developed by the skill and patinece of a devoted teacher, Helen Keller is today one of the outstanding women of her generation.

A PLUCKY GIRL FLYER

For the time being, at least, it appears that the world's greatest flying honors for a woman are due Miss Amy Johnson, the 27-year-old English girl who recently flew alone from London to Australia in 19 days.

Her flight took her across Europe, Asia and the Dutch East Indies, a distance of 9,900 miles, the last 500 miles of which was over the sea. Her time was only four days longer than the record, although she lost three days at Rangoon because of a broken wing and propeller.

Australia went wild over her feat, and she received congratulatory telegrams from King George and Premier MacDonald. Like Lindbergh, she leaped at once from obscurity to world-wide fame. Until a short time ago Miss Johnson was an office girl serving as secretary to an insurance attorney and taking flying lessons in spare time.

She not only learned to fly but became a skilled aviation mechanic as well, and is the only woman ever licensed by the British Air Ministry as a ground engineer.

Her great flight again demonstrates that the so-called "weaker sex" is not lacking in courage, skill and endurance in the air or elsewhere.

PROTECT FORESTS AGAINST FIRE

A report from the forest service cites that "careless smokers are the main causes of the consistent yearly increase in the number of forest and brush fires in California". The nineteen forest fires in California are among the finest in the nation. The season of use and enjoyment of these national assets is also the season of their greatest peril, points out the Stop Forest Fires Committee of California. The individual's contribution to protection of our forests is an obvious and an easy one.

A French girl shot her husband the day after the wedding, probably having in mind the slogan: "Eventually, why not now?"

NEW AMERICAN SHIPS

Germany's speed supremacy on the seas will be challeged by two new ships just contracted for by the United States Lines, which will be the largest ever built in the United States, of 30,000 tons each. The two will cost $21,000,000, and are to be completed in 1932.

These are the first vessels to be built by the company under its agreement with the government, whereby a total of $90,000,000 will be expended for new ships within the next few years. It is said that they are expected to develop a speed to exceed that of the German Bremen and Europa.

It should be a source of patriotic pride that the United States is to again take an important place among the maritime nations of the world.

The law requires food and drug manufacturers to correctly label their products. Now for a law compelling customers to read the labels.

DEATH OF SAN MATEO PROBATION OFFICER

Mr. Francis T. Rapp, of 15 Ninth avenue, San Mateo, probation officer of San Mateo county, passed away last Sunday in St. Mary's hospital in San Francisco where he had been confined for some time, undergoing the Coffey and Humber treatment. He had been ill for the past year. Mr. Rapp had been the popular probation officer for the past fifteen years and was well known throughout the county. He was also engaged with his brother in the insurance business.

Deceased was the beloved son of Mary and the late Wm. Rapp, loving brother of Mrs. Clement Nash, Geo. B., Wm. A. and Albert J. Rapp.

Mr. Rapp was a member of the San Mateo Lodge of B. P. O. Elks 1112 and San Mateo Council of Knights of Columbus 1346.

Funeral was held Tuesday morning from his late residence and after the celebration of mass at St. Matthew's Catholic church, he was interred at St. John's Cemetery in San Mateo.

BALLOON JUMPING STUNTS AT THE OAKLAND AIRPORT

Balloons and blimps as well as heavier than air machines will play an important part in the air activities to be presented as features of the Pacific Coast Aeronautical Exposition at the Oakland airport this Saturday, June 28, to Sunday, July 6, is announced.

A unique feature at the show will be a balloon jumping stunt, said to be the first time this sport, which has become a great fad in Germany, has ever been tried in the United States.

A gas balloon some 28 feet in diameter, owned by N. N. Shcrb, San Francisco balloonist, has been procured for the stunt. Marguerite Wright, Patricia Kendall and Betty Russell, all of the Ookland airport, have been practicing leaps with the "big bag" during the past week, and have the stunt down pat, they say. It is expected that the spectators will get a big thrill and enjoy the comic sight of seeing the young ladies hoisted abruptly into the air 75 to 100 feet, as they jump from the ground with a harness around their shoulders fastened to the balloon. This stunt provides comedy as well as thrills and promises to be one of the interesting events of the exopsition.

The kind Providence which is said to guard drunken men, children and the United States was manifested in Central Park, New York, some days ago. Playful boys threw sticks at Paul Goldstein and Murray Liebowitz, who were rowing on a small lake. The rowers landed and chased the boys—also discovered that the sticks were of stolen dynamite, which fortunately had failed to explode.

WITH OUR WOMEN

Mrs. Abigail Hillegas Moles, of Fairbury, Neb., 87 years old, claims a share of $7,000,000, said to be due from the government on account of a loan made by her great-grandfather, Michael Hillegas, first treasurer of the United States.

Miss Sue Pollard, daughter of the governor of Virginia, was crowned queen of the apple blossom festival at Winchester, Va., receiving the crown from the hands of Governor Hardman of Georgia.

Miss Martha Ann Brisbane, daughter of the noted editor, Arthur Brisbane, is learning to navigate a glider.

Miss Elizabeth Kent, daughter of the well-known radio manufacturer, will be presented to the King and Queen of England at a reception this month.

Miss Florence Klingensmith, of Fargo, N. D., said to be the only woman airport manager, holds the women's loop-the-loop record, having made 143 loops in 43 minutes.

Field Major Emma Westbrook, 86, is the only survivor of the first party of Salvation Army lassies who came to America from England in 1880.

Mrs. Kiwa Shimazaki, 56, of Tokyo, who is the only woman contractor in that country, employs about 200 men and has worked on some of the largest buildings in Japan.

BOYS AND GIRLS

Mitzi Green, 9-year-old movie star, recently arrived in New York from Hollywood, carrying a big doll as part of her luggage.

Leonard Adams, 6-year-old Nebraska boy, about to be overtaken on a trestle by a railroad train, saved himself by clinging to a girder until the train passed.

Sammy Kramer, 14, of New York, has gained considerable fame as a violinist and has been awarded a valuable musical scholarship.

Bily Meredith, 8 months old, was operated on at an Albany, Cal., hospital. Now his parents are suing the hospital, claiming that the surgeon worked on the wrong boy.

Joe Miske, 11, made a phenomenal bowling record during the past season at a Milwaukee bowling alley owned by his father.

Dorothy Compson, school girl of Warwick, R. I., shot 49 field goals in a basketball game, which is thought to be a world's record.

"THE LAST MILE" COMING TO THE GEARY THEATRE

"The Last Mile," John Wexley's exciting drama, which comes to the Geary Theatre, San Francisco, for a two week engagement beginning Monday night, June 30, leaped into national prominence with its January premiere and since then every seat for every performance at the New York Playhouse has been commanding huge premiums from the scalpers.

The entire action takes place in the grim cell block where seven men await execution. The principal character is "Killer" Mears as the leader of the prison revolt, and eleven other men. The story is based on the diary of the last twenty-four hours in the death house as written by the late Robert Blake, a condemned convict in the state prison at Huntsville, Texas, and also on the recent Colorado jail break. The mother of Blake receives each week part of Wexley's royalties.

"The Last Mile" audiences come away with the realization (probably for the first time in their lives) of exactly what capital punishment means. This is remarkable because at no point during the play is any voice lifted in proof or disproof of a thesis, lesson or moral. The stress has been entirely on the theatre. There is nothing remotely resembling propaganda.

The production is staged under the personal supervision of Lillian Albertson, who staged "The Student Prince," "The New Moon," and many other successes. The cast is a specially selected one, the characters being chosen for their ability to portray the respective types they are called upon to enact.

TELEPHONES IN COLORS TO MATCH MADAME'S ENSEMBLE

Telephones in colors are now available, L. M. Brown, division manager for the telephone company, announced today.

Telephones of the hand set type, with receiver and transmitter in one piece, may be had in ivory, French gray, old brass, statuary bronze and oxidised silver. Telephone bell boxes may be finished to match the hand sets. Colored cords of the right shades complete the ensemble.

"The trend toward color is seen in many commonly used products," Brown said, in commenting on the innovation. "The use of many hues in interior decoration and furnishing, coupled with the increasing use of telephones in various rooms of the home, made it desirable that the popular hand set be finished so as to blend with practically every scheme of decoration."

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

BURLINGAME MAN SUFFERS INJURY WHILE SWIMMING

Hector Hansen, 18 Bancroft road, Burlingame, employed at a road construction camp of Frederickson & Watson, at Belmont, was brought to Mills Memorial hospital late Monday for treatment of an injury to his right leg, suffered while swimming in San Francisco bay near the road camp.

Hansen struck a rock while diving from an improvised spring board, said Ed Williams, San Francisco, and Frank Brown, Redwood City, who brought him to Burlingame. Williams and Brown, both employed at the camp, were swimming with Hansen when the accident occurred.

SUMMONS TO ESTABLISH TITLE

Action No. 17357.

In the Superior Court of the State of California, in and for the County of San Mateo.

Percy Henry Gray, Plaintiff, vs. All Persons claiming any interest in, or lien upon, the real property herein described or any part thereof, Defendants.

The People of the State of California:

To all persons claiming any interest in, or lien upon, the real property herein described or any part thereof, defendants, greeting:

You are hereby required to appear and answer the complaint of Percy Henry Gray, plaintiff, filed with the Clerk of the above-entitled Court and County, within three months after the first publication of this Summons, and to set forth what interest or lien, if any, you have in or upon that certain real property or any part thereof, situated in the County of San Mateo, State of California, particularly described as follows:

Those certain parcels of land situate in the City of San Mateo, County of San Mateo, State of California, described as:

Lots 2 and 3 as designated on the map entitled "Map of Resubdivision of Lots 32-33-34 Glazenwood, San Mateo, California," which map was filed in the office of the Recorder of San Mateo County, California, on June 6, 1928, in Liber 17 of Maps at page 3.

And you are hereby notified that, unless you so appear and answer, the plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded in the complaint, to-wit: That it be adjudged that the plaintiff is the owner of said property in fee simple absolute; that his title to said property be established and quieted; that the Court ascertain and determine all estates, rights, titles, interests and claims in and to said property, and every part thereof, whether the same be legal or equitable, present or future, vested or contingent, and whether the same consists of mortgages or liens of any description; that plaintiff recover his costs herein and have such other relief as may be meet in the premises.

WITNESS my hand and the Seal of said Court this 10th day of April, A. D. 1930.

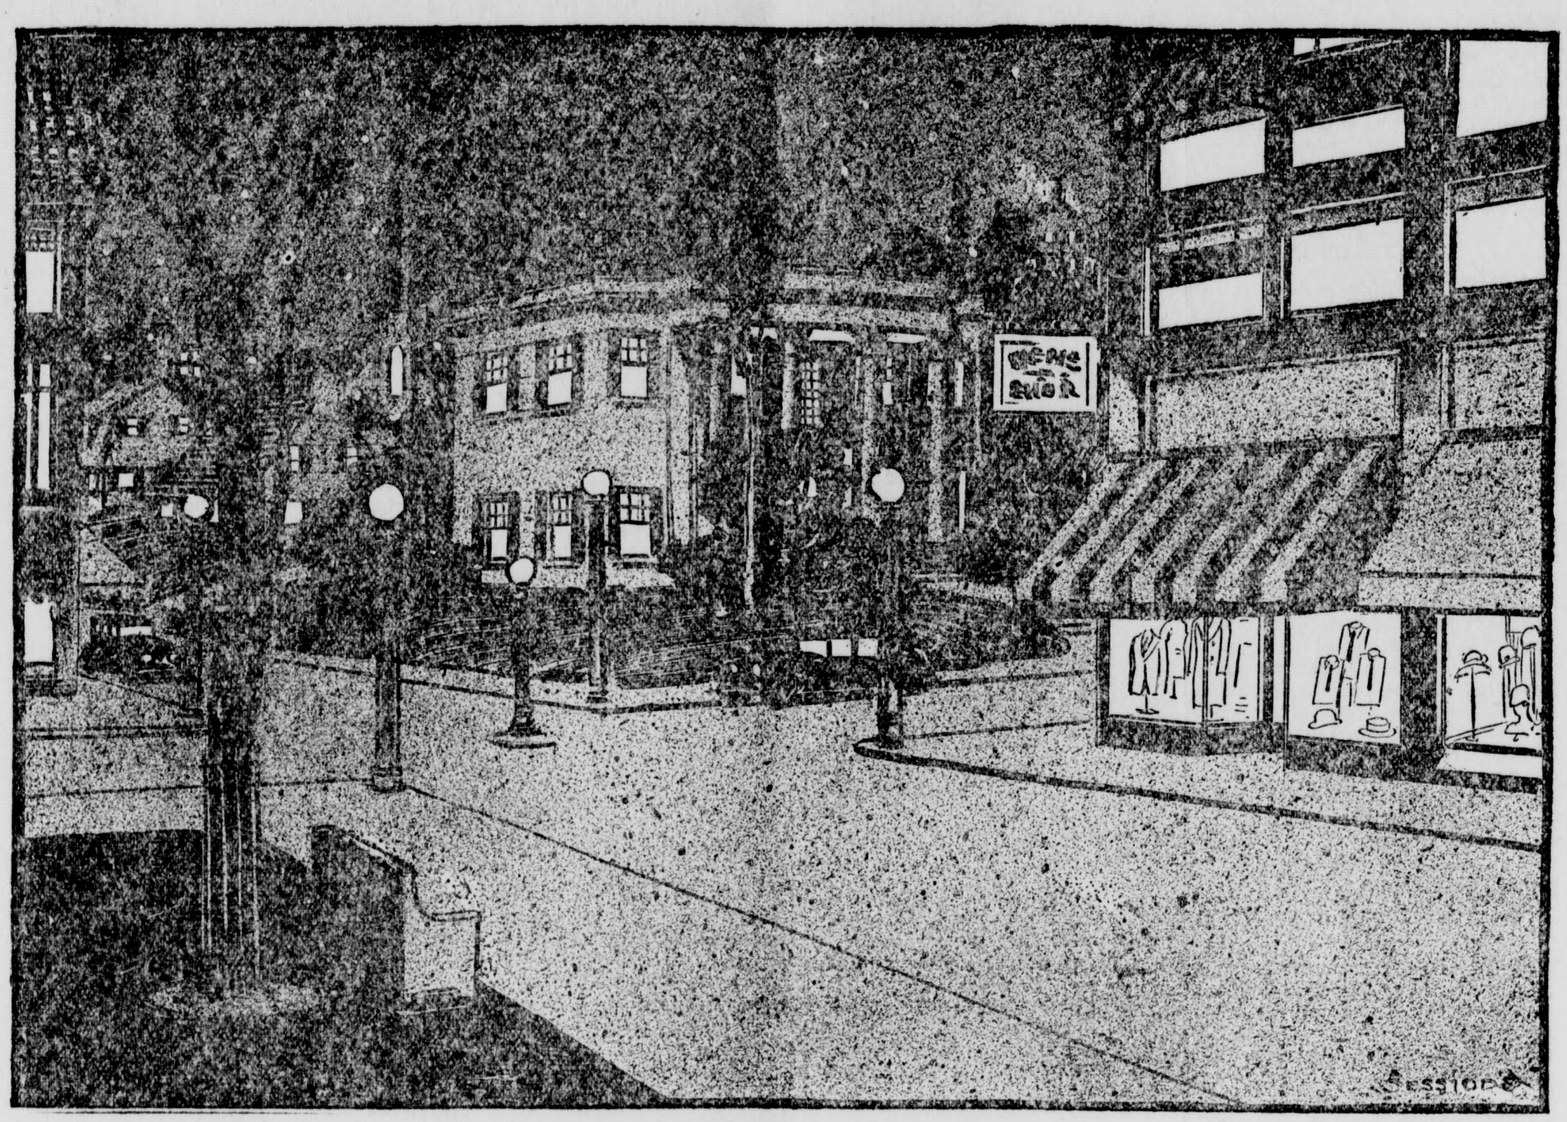
"A Thing of Beauty"—



Nothing so advertises a town as its general appearance. No advertising is so cheap or so effective. Attractive streets, pleasant yards and comfortable, charming homes, create not only a pride among residents, but, also, have a charm for strangers.

The general appearance of our community will, in a large part, make the difference between success and failure in our efforts to build goodwill and help attract the right kind of residents to become our neighbors.

A town should be made attractive as well as prosperous, intelligent, healthful and efficient. The attractive appearing town gives the community an evidence of prosperity, welfare and happiness, and of good government.

Civic beauty need cost but little in dollars and cents. The greatest investment should be made in the giving of time, thought and energy, and imagination, to a united movement toward a more beautiful community.

The success of a Town Beautiful movement is not dependent upon the raising of large sums of money, but upon the development of civic pride in every resident, so that every man, woman and child will lend their cooperation.

Streets should be well lighted and clean, free from rubbish and paper; stores well-kept—windows shining; well kept lawns and yards; plenty of suitable shade trees; shrubbery and flowers; attractive fences and lawn furniture.

It is poor economy to spoil attractive people and beautiful homes by slovenly and ill-ordered community settings.

The beauty of our town is, therefore, one of the best indexes of our community spirit.

"Only one community in ten is making any real effort towards civic beautifying and planning. There is rare opportunity open to the town whose citizens will strive to make it a thing of beauty," say experts.

Let's get together for concerted action and beautify our town.

Our business men and professional men, our public officials, our home owners and private citizens, our schools and our children, are all imbued with the energy and pride that it takes to make an outstanding town in appearance.

Paint store and lumber yard; florist and nursery men; hardware and general store—all have the material, information and willingness to make OUR "City Beautiful" plan a success.

How many are ready to signify their interest in Our City Beautiful Plan? How many are already planning what they will do? How many will actually do it?

A "City Beautiful" is only possible through the efforts of all, and this page is presented with the hope that it will stimulate both thought and action in

FOUR STATES BAN "HITCH-HIKING."

Four states have laws to prohibit the hitch-hiker from doing his begging along motor routes. Maine, New Jersey, Minnesota and Wisconsin have enacted statutes making it a misdemeanor to stand in the highway and solicit a ride in an automobile, reports the California State Automobile Association. The District of Columbia has a similar law. The Minnesota statute is typical of such laws; it provides:

"No person shall stand in the traveled portion of a roadway for the purpose of or while soliciting a ride from the driver of any vehicle other than a common carrier."

While not a strong advocate of the policy of "There should be a law against it," one is inclined to think that regulations against hitch-hiking in Daly City might help some of our able-bodied schoolboys to find that legs were originally intended as locomotive appendages. While the schools are in session, young huskies stand for an hour at a time with thumbs elevated in the air soliciting motorists to give them a lift a couple of blocks to school. How they manage to drag themselves along on vacation is a mystery, but probably they solve the problem by staying in bed.

CAMPAIGN EXPENDITURES

It appears that the Senate committee appointed to investigate campaign expenses of Senatorial candidates will have plenty of work to do this year, with Illinois and Pennsylvania holding the limelight as in former years.

In her campaign for the Republican nomination in Illinois, Mrs. Ruth Hanna McCormick has reported expenses amounting to $252,572. The Pennsylvania contest between Joseph Grundy and James J. Davis is also expected to be attended by large expenditures. All this in the face of the fact that Smith of Illinois and Vare of Pennsylvania were denied Senate seats because of what the Senate considered a too free use of money in their behalf.

Smith spent $458,782, and Vare spent $780,000, but neither approached the primary expenditure of $1,804,979 by Pepper of Pennsylvania, who failed to even get the nomination. It will be recalled that Newberry of Michigan resigned from the Senate some years ago after being censured for spending $195,000 to gain his seat.

But Mrs. McCormick's outlay is by no means finished. She must now make her campaign for election in November, her Democratic opponent being former Senator James Hamilton Lewis.

It has not been charged, so far, that Mrs. McCormick made any really improper use of money during her campaign. The action of the investigating committee will probably hinge upon the size and reasonableness of the expenditure, rather than upon the method of making it. That there will be plenty of criticism there can be no doubt.

PIGEON BLACKMAILER

An unusual package was delivered recently to Hermann Pattberg, a wealthy citizen of Duisberg, Germany. Inside was a carrier pigeon and a letter. The letter directed him to securely fasten a 5,000-mark note, equivalent to about $1,200, to the pigeon and turn it loose. He was warned that he would be murdered should he fail to comply with the order.

Pattberg thought it over, then a bright idea crossed his mind. He hired an aviator to follow the pigeon when it was released, minus the money. The flyer carried a camera with which he photographed the house on which the pigeon alighted, then returned and gave the picture and directions to the police. The would-be blackmailer was soon in jail.

Which illustrates that a slick crook can be outwitted if his intended victim is just a little bit slicker.

A NEW RED TERROR IN RUSSIA

Tales of a new Red terror are leaking out of Russia in spite of strict censorship by the Soviet government, according to Eugene Young in the San Francisco Chronicle. In one week dispatches list the execution of 100 people on charges of "counter revolution." Most of these were peasants who, by their enterprise, had gathered some of the world's goods and were unwilling to surrender their property to the state. Others were priests and persons who had tried to trade outside of state co-operatives.

One dispatch lists the shooting of fifteen peasants without trial in one district, and the shooting of a priest and five peasants in another for agitating against the Soviet rural policy.

It is said that demonstrations against the government have steadily gained force. Many peasants are attempting to assert individual rights. As a consequence, affairs of the Soviet have reached a crisis and opposition to the Stalin regime is to be crushed to death.

TAKING TO THE AIR

The American public is taking to the air. Last year 90,000 persons made scheduled trips on passenger planes —double the 1928 number, and more will ride this year. The people are becoming air-minded. The airplane has ceased to be a novelty and has taken its place along with railroads, buses and automobiles as a standard mode of transportation. Little more than a year has passed since the modern transport planes came into use. They are models of comfort, speed and dependability. Who can wonder that they are popular means of travel?

New York is to have more artistic garbage cans. What it really needs is bigger ones, especially in the theatre district.

ELIZABETH KNEESE SEEKS RE-ELECTION

It has been my pleasure and my privilege to hold the Office of County Clerk of San Mateo County for the past twelve years.

Throughout these years it has been my good fortune to work under the direction of Judge Buck, who has been a lifelong friend, and with the members of the San Mateo County Bar and the many San Francisco attorneys who practise in our county. They have once again sponsored my candidacy and I am happy to have this expression of their confidence in me.

In again asking the support of the people of San Mateo county I pledge the same efficiency that I believe has characterized my administration of the office of County Clerk in the past.

ELIZABETH M. KNEESE.

Mrs. Kneese has held the office for the past twelve years, having been appointed in 1919 by the board of supervisors to succeed her late husband, Joseph H. Nash. She has proven herself one of the most popular and efficient officials of San Mateo county, as is evidenced by her re-election to the position each term without opposition and with large complimentry votes.

She has given the people of San Mateo county a business-like administration and during her term of office has introduced new ideas and improvements that make it recognized today as one of the best conducted in the state, several of them much larger than San Mateo county.

In recognition of her ability and as added evidence of her popularity, Mrs. Kneese has been honored each year by the County Clerks' Association of California by being elected secretary of that organization.

Mrs. Kneese personally attends all meetings of the board of supervisors and in addition to her duties as clerk of the Superior Court, she supervises the work of her office. During her entire administration not one single criticism has been directed at the office; on the other hand Mrs. Kneese has been commended time and again not only by the people of the county but by attorneys and others from all sections of the state who have occasion to visit the office.

Mrs. Kneese has built up an office force, which for courtesy, efficiency and business-like administration is without a compeer in the state. The proximity of this county to San Francisco and other large cities results in attorneys from all parts of California appearing in the county court, and all are in accord in the praise of the manner in which their cases are handled by the office of County Clerk Kneese.

HOW THE HOME TOWN PAPER SERVES THE COMMUNITY

How the home town newspaper is serving its community and has developed into one of the leading local institutions in every town in Califoria was one of the important features brought out by speakers at the three day summer conference of the California Newspaper Publishers Association which was held at Santa Cruz, June 13, 14 and 15.

The conference, attended by newspaper publishers and their families representing every section of the state, was presided over by Ford A. Chatters, president of the state association, and was the first statewide mid-year meeting of publishers to be held since the organization of the association.

Marc N. Goodnow, of the University of Southern California, spoke before the publishers on Merchandising and Advertising and pointed out the many advantages to a community where merchants made a scientific study of local conditions and merchandised their goods through the columns of the local newspaper.

Reports on the activities of tthe Los Angeles and San Fransisco offices of the California Newspaper Publishers Association indicated that publishers throughout the state are becoming more and more interested in a constructive development of California, resulting in added business for the local merchant.

The meetings were held at the Casa Del Rey hotel, amid its magnificent Spanish gardens, traditions and legends of the early Spanish days. A troupe of Spanish troubadours, furnished through the courtesy of the National Orange Show of San Bernardino, entertained the delegates with Spanish songs and dances.

ELOPERS SOUGHT BY POLICE

Police of the entire state are looking for two youthful San Bruno elopers who left San Bruno in company with the youth's mother for an unknown destination. The pair of sweethearts, Elinor Galleher, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Galleher, 786 Mills avenue, San Bruno, and Harold Mallon, son of Mrs. Carrie Mallon, Mastic avenue, are believed to be on their way to Reno or Mexico. A radio message was sent out to intercept the couple. The girl is a student at Burlingame high school and young Mallon has until recently been working at the wire works in South San Francisco.

Dial telephones have been removed from the Senate office building. It appears that Senators couldn't learn how to manipulate them.

By J. H. NEUSTADT

Have you ever seen a chinook salmon chase a trout? Once Ben Hur Lampman was fishing on Rogue river and saw a royal chinook chase a big steelhead clear across the river and out onto the gravel.

I have sometimes seen salmon chasing trout but I always thought they were just playing. But Ben tells that this is not the case, that if the salmon ever catches his smaller and faster brother he will kill him.

Whenever you see a salmon after a trout you can nearly always be sure it's spawning time for the salmon and that the trout was getting too close to the salmon's nest. Two salmon, a male and a female, after a long hard journey to the nesting grounds at the head of some stream pick out a riffle that flows over gravel. Then they scoop out a nest and begin the business of filling it with eggs. The egglaying takes several days probably.

All this time the salmon trout or other predatory fish that have been following them are marking time, their fins downstream from the nest. Every time the trout sees a cluster of eggs precipitated into the water by the female salmon they make a dash toward the nest. Sometimes they get too close and then the male salmon, and sometimes the female, turn and charge the band of trout furiously.

The reason the salmon choose a riffle is that they depend on the river to cover the nest after the eggs are laid. The riffle has to be in gravel. If it were where silt and sand were being washed downstream, the eggs would be smothered. The gravel, though, leaves spaces through which the young fish can make their way out into the stream after they are hatched.

After the eggs are laid, the parents stay around only a short while, giving the stream time enough to cover the nest with fine gravel, before they die. Their dying is so timed that the young are able to feed on their remains. Anyway, that's the theory.

Lampman has observed all kinds of fish spawning, and he is my authority for the foregoing statements. What led to this dissertation on fish was an item from a Washington correspondent that the Washington department of fisheries will feed 38,000,000 salmon fry this year with 246,500 pounds of spawned-out salmon that were canned last season, thus catering to the cannibalistic tendencies of young salmon. The entire cost to the state of canning the waste fish in small portable canneries was only $2,930.

SAN MATEO MAN INJURED IN MOTORCYCLE CRASH

John Whitaker, 19, 24 Railroad avenue, suffered a badly mashed index finger when his motorcycle skidded and fell at First avenue and Claremont street. Joseph Azevedo, 240 North Delaware street, riding on the same machine, escaped injury. Whitaker was brought to Mills Memorial hospital for treatment.

They returned to Stockton Wednesday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bisler, of Citrus avenue, gave a house-warming Saturday evening, June 14. A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all, playing cards and dancing. Buffet supper was served at midnight. Those present were: Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Keegan and son Charles Jr., Mr. and Mrs. P. Fahey, Mrs. Freed, Mr. Sampson, Mr. and Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Behrandt and daughter Edith, Mr. Powell, Miss L. Moore and Mr. W. Gallent, all of San Francisco, Miss E. Bisler, Miss M. Kennedy, Mr. E. Evens, Mr. and Mrs. A. Michelson, of Daly City.

On Thursday of last week Mrs. Albert Parmisano, of Irvington street, entertained her whist club at her home. A delightful afternoon was spent by those present. Upon the conclusion of the usual whist game, refreshments were served by the hostess. Those present were Mrs. P. Benassini, of Colma; Mrs. T. Schmidt, of South San Francisco; Mrs. Mary Silicani, Mrs. E. Oliotti, Mrs. R. Morton, Mrs. A. Sturla, Mrs. J. Reardon, Mrs. Anthony Parmisano, Mrs. J. Horkey, Mrs. R. Fellman, Mrs. L. Fellman, Mrs. Albert Parmisano.

Charlotte Caldwell and Margaret Saame entertained a group of friends at 322 Irvington street, Saturday, June 14. A very pleasant evening was spent in dancing and games. Ed. Evans, a radio artist of KPO, entertained those assembled with a few of his card and magic tricks. The table was artistically decorated with beautiful roses. At midnight a delightful supper was served, which was enjoyed by the following guests: Misses Jean Lindsay, Elizabeth Saame, Margaret Same, Margaret Nelson, Sylvia Evans, Drusilla Felsch and Charlotte Caldwell; Messrs. Arthur Anderson, Joe Peterson, Edmund Evans, William Irvin, Harden Wegienholdt, Fred Reeder, Ernest Bosgiter and Max Edwards.

Miss Myrtle Chandler, of Hanover street, was the house guest of Miss Jessie Augustien, of Mission street, last week.

Walter and Cecil Marks, of Los Banos avenue, spent last Sunday with a group of friends on a fishing trip in Tunitas Glen.

Mrs. W. Spreckelmeyer, of Risel street, who has been suffering from a bad cold for the past two weeks, is feeling much improved.

Little Patrica Forrest, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Forrest, is enjoying her vacation this week at the home of her grandmother in Fresno.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Verbrugge and daughter Cecelia, of Whittier street, motored to Los Angeles last Sunday, where they plan to spend the week.

Members of the J. T. Club were luncheon guests at the home of Mrs. L. Light, of Whittier street, last Thursday and spent a most delightful afternoon.

Mrs. E. Boyle and two sons, of Winchester street, are spending their vacation with Mrs. Boyle's mother in Atherton. They left on Thursday of last week.

Mrs. Mellie Johnson, formerly of Miriam street, now a resident of Burlingame, was a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Al Greene, of San Diego avenue, last Saturday.

Mrs. Horace Fellows, of Niantic avenue, returned last Sunday from a visit to Burbank, where she attended the Druids' convention held there last week, going as a delegate from Hillcrest Circle.

Little Helen Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Smith, of Miriam street, is convalescing at her home after a tonsil and adenoid operation, performed on Wednesday of last week in Mary's Help hospital.

Dr. R. R. Castle, who formerly lived on Santa Cruz avenue, is ill at the home of his sister-in-law, Dr. Mary Silva, of Gilroy. Dr. Castle had been practicing dentistry at 1059 Market street until he was stricken with a heart attack.

On Thursday of last week the "J. T." Club met at the home of Mrs. L. Pezzola, of Mission street. A delicious luncheon and afternoon spent in playing the piano and singing was enjoyed by those present. The guests were Mrs. L. Light, Mrs. F. Locke, and Mrs. L. Pezzola.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Rehbock and family, of Wilson avenue, moved from Daly City to their ranch at Santa Rosa, which they recently purchased. They left this vicinity last Thursday. Mrs. Rehbock is very well known and very highly esteemed, having been associated with the Primary of the L. D. S. church as leader. They are going to enter the chicken business. Their many friends here whom they have made during their eleven years residence, wish them the best of luck in the future.

NEW HOMES TAKE PLACE OF OLD "REFUGEE SHACK"

Fred Dixon, well known real estate and insurance man, located at 5296 Mission street, has started building two five room homes at 62 and 66 Theta avenue. The site was formerly occupied by one of the "regugee" homes built following the fire in San Francisco, which was recently razed, and the new buildings will be a distinct addition to that part of Daly City. Mr. Dixon, in addition to being a real estate dealer, is a builder of good homes, and purchases the material for his buildings in this city.

AHRENS HITS HARD TO INCREASE LEAD

It appears that Del Ahrens, Daly City Merchants' leading hitter, backed up for a good start when he went hitless June 15. In last Sunday's game Del obtained four hits in five times at bat to bring his average up to .452. This gives him a 13.3 percentage lead over Rettig, his closest rival.

Pat Sloan's average shows an increase of 3.7 per cent over last week. Sam Hawley is tied with Pat for third place, .313. Both players have been hitting steadily, to occupy the position they now hold.

This week's averages finds six players with percentages over .300 The team's average.

	AB.	H.	Pct.
Ahrens	42	19	.452
Rettig	47	15	.319
Sloan	32	10	.313
Hawley	32	10	.313
Plansky	46	14	.304
Toole	23	7	.304
Cruchoff	.41	12	.293
Fabin	18	5	.278
Strand	7	1	.145

We read that radio loudspeakers are being employed on farms instead of scarecrows. Some programs we might mention ought to be especially effective.

A scientist declares that the human jaw is growing less and less and will eventually disappear. Then folks will all resemble Andy Gump.

I. Gottfried, of Los Olivos avenue, left this city on June 9 to visit his parents and sister in Germany.
